"A designer penthouse apartment filled with light and refined contemporary space featuring a bright and airy open plan living area and three luxurious bedrooms in Marylebone, one of London's most exclusive areas".

This stunning penthouse apartment is all style and substance. It can be found on Marylebone Lane, in a collection of design-led apartments that tick every box when it comes to having somewhere chic and comfortable to stay in London. The location couldn't be better. In fact you are a seven-minute stroll from Marylebone High Street, with all of its boutiques and restaurants, and just sixteen minutes from Soho. Bond Street tube station is just a four-minute walk away so you can explore further afield pretty effortlessly.

Whether you've spent the day shopping, visiting museums and galleries, or taking in a show, you'll be glad to have this penthouse to return to. When the weather is fine, take a glass of wine onto the planted terrace to relax. The open-plan living and dining space is filled with light, with high ceilings that make it feel spacious but cosy. The penthouse has been designed in collaboration with Waldo Works, and the Laura Bartlett studio has curated the artwork – every detail has been considered, but always with comfort in mind, as well as style.
